

Description of institution

Vall d'Hebron Research Institute (VHIR) is a non-profit Research Institution that promotes and develops innovative biomedical research at the University Hospital Vall d'Hebron. VHIR is oriented towards finding solutions to the health problems of the citizens and has the will to contribute to the scientific, educational, social and economic development within its area of competence. Our research is focused on solving human health problems and on healthcare improvement.

Position offered

Title of position offered

PhD

Type of position offered

Research position

Description of position offered

A PhD position is available at the Infectious Diseases Group at Research Institute Vall d'Hebron (VHIR) to investigate the following Project: "Nanotechnology for the treatment of multidrug-resistant Gram-negative infections".

Skills requested

- The candidate has to possess undergraduate in Medicine, Biology or Pharmacy or equivalent in the EU.
- Therefore, the candidate needs the title speciality in Microbiology MIR, BIR or FIR or its equivalent in the EU. If the title had not homologated, requirements will be considered in terms of ESCMID as far as to the degree of specialist in microbiology.
- Previous experience would be valuable in the field of multi-resistant Gram-negative infections, biofilms, research by using animal models and nanotechnology
- Minimum Level in English: B2
- Curriculum vitae, Motivation Letter
 - Dr Joan Gavalda, MD, PhD. joan.gavalda@vhir.org
 - Infectious Diseases Senior Consultant. Coordinator Infectious Diseases Research Lab

Type of contract

- Contract linked to Network REIPI (Spanish Network Research in Infectious Diseases)
- Job status: Full-time: 40h week