

PhD Student

The Molecular Pathology research group is looking for highly motivated candidates for a PhD student position to work in the project: “New therapeutic strategies in breast cancer: MNKs inhibitors and characterization of new factors involved in resistance to cellular stress”.

Profile:

- Recent master student with a strong desire for cell and cancer biology research.

Desired requirements:

- Master, ideally, in Molecular Biology, Biochemistry Cancer Biology or similar.
- Scientific publications.
- Excellent written and spoken English.
- Experience in molecular cell biology, cell culture and molecular biology.
- Ability to design and implement his/her own experiments independently.

Conditions:

- Part-time contract.
- Gross salary: according to the ISCIII call.
- Incorporation: immediate.

CV, motivation letter and two letters of recommendation should be sent to:
marta.sese@vhir.org (Marta Sesé, PhD) and sramon@vhebron.net (Santiago Ramon y Cajal, M.D., PhD).